Beirut, Lebanon. The Middle East Investor Relations Association (MEIRA) and the Beirut Stock Exchange (BSE) signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) on Friday 26 May, marking the launch of increased collaboration between the two organisations in promoting best practice in Investor Relations (IR) in Lebanon.

The signing ceremony took place at the BSE headquarters and was inaugurated by Ghaleb Mahmassani, BSE Acting Chairman, followed by Sami Saliba, Capital Market Authority Vice-Chairman, who gave a keynote speech on the regulatory landscape in Lebanon.

Commenting on the agreement, Mahmassani said: “The missions of the Beirut Stock Exchange have always been to develop the financial markets in Lebanon, to protect investors’ interests, promote transparency and to raise a culture of effective communication between all stakeholders in the Lebanese Financial Market. By signing this agreement with a prestigious association that shares the same objectives and interests, the Beirut Stock Exchange aims to take Investor Relations practice a step further in order to share the latest views in this topic and deploy best practices in IR activities in Lebanon”.

The signing of this agreement with the Beirut Stock Exchange marks an important step in our ongoing commitment to fostering support for Investor Relations and market development across the Middle East. We look forward to working with the CMA and BSE as they further enhance engagement capabilities with local, regional and international investors.”

MEIRA is a non-profit organisation committed to promoting best practice in Investor Relations throughout the Middle East. This new agreement will bring more opportunities for MEIRA to deliver value to its members in Lebanon, including specialist workshops, seminars and offering of the Certified Investor Relations Officer (CIRO) Programme.
